

Patricia C. Williams, CEcD
Chief Executive Officer
Georgia Micro Enterprise Network

Patricia is an economic development consultant through Callouch/Williams Associates. Previously she served as the Chief Executive Officer of the Georgia Micro Enterprise Network (GMEN), a statewide economic development industry association focused on job creation through small business development.

She served as Treasurer on the national microenterprise industry's board of directors, Association for Enterprise Opportunity (AEO) and served as chair of its SMA committee representing organizations like GMEN from around the country.

Patricia has made community service a key part of her life. She has worked with over 30 not-for-profit organizations. She has held leadership positions in the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, Atlanta YWCA, Memphis Women's Foundation, National Black MBA Association, and Memphis Partners in Public Education ... as well as participated in Leadership Atlanta, Leadership Baton Rouge, and Leadership Memphis.

She now serves as Secretary on the board of directors of the Sadie G. Mays Nursing Home and Chair of its Personnel committee. Patricia is an active member of Cascade United Methodist Church. Patricia is a national speaker on several topics, including small business development, managing an economic development organization, living your passions and Christian stewardship.